INTRODUCTION
About This Directory

For your convenience, AIA Colorado's 2008-09 Firm Profile & Membership Directory divides member firms by chapter (Member Firm Profiles & Local Chapter Information), and then lists all professional affiliate companies and individual members in separate sections.

The Member Firm Profiles & Local Chapter Information section is a roster of architectural firms whose principal(s) and/or partners are full AIA members. The qualification for being included as a member firm in the 2008-09 Firm Profile & Membership Directory is that the principal of the firm, or one of the principal(s), is an AIA Colorado architect member (AIA). Firms included in the roster are not necessarily architecture firms. Licensed architects represented in this listing are designated by the AIA or FAIA designation after their names in the contact section. The Professional Affiliate Firms section highlights those members that are affiliated with the design and construction industry. Finally, the Individual Members section contains individual listings of all members, including architects, associate AIAs, professional affiliates, student affiliates and intern members.

All information in AIA Colorado's 2008-09 Firm Profile & Membership Directory has been provided by individual members, firms and professional affiliate members. The information was deemed accurate at the time of publication. However, if information is not accurate, members may contact AIA Colorado at 303.446.2266, ext. 113, or send an e-mail with changes to info@aiacolorado.org. AIA Colorado may not be held responsible for any inaccuracies or omissions in the member listings.

AIA respects the privacy of its members. This directory includes firm and personal information supplied by members. Individual listings do not include e-mail addresses. Please note the contents of this publication may not be reproduced by any means, in whole or in part, without prior written consent of the publisher. For information about purchasing a single-use mailing list of AIA Colorado members, please contact AIA Colorado at 303.446.2266, ext. 110. AIA Colorado does not sell or share e-mail address lists. Inclusion in this directory does not imply endorsement of any firm, service or product. The acceptance of advertising does not reflect endorsement of products or services by this publication or AIA Colorado.

2007 YEAR IN REVIEW

HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE 2007 ANNUAL REPORT

(en găj', in-) vi.

The challenge for 2007 was based on a single word: "engage"

1. to pledge oneself; promise; undertake; agree
2. to occupy or involve oneself; take part; be active;
3. to enter into conflict
4. to interlock; mesh.[1]

The word "engage", used in any one of these four definitions (as an intransitive verb) defines how many architects encounter and participate in our society.

The board of directors challenged our organization in 2007 to engage in all four senses of the word:

1. to make a pledge to engage in our community (advocacy, and to engage our community in a discussion of the impact of design excellence)
2. to involve ourselves in the key issues on which architects are positioned to be leaders (sustainability, growth, transportation)
3. not to shrink from conflict or to take a stand when it may be controversial but when we know it to be right
4. to interlock and mesh, both as components and committees, working together and as a statewide organization fully participating in the workings of society

As architects, our knowledge base must be broad, drawing upon the diverse aspects of our profession. This positions us to be leaders – if we are only willing to accept the challenge and if we can synthesize our artistic/reflective/theoretical side with our activist/analytical/societal inclinations.

2007 YEAR IN REVIEW

HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE 2007 ANNUAL REPORT

AIA COLORADO

- AIA Colorado began documenting contributions to the AIA and industry by some of its long-standing members by creating a series of videos through the History Committee. The videos will be available for checkout and used as an educational tool for emerging professionals.
- AIA Colorado worked on plans to start an AIA disaster assistance program throughout the state – offering services of architects to help in the event of a major disaster. The program chair, Kaki Zeeb, AIA, attended training in September. The program will continue to evolve in 2008.
- AIA Colorado worked with members of AIA Denver's Committee on the Environment to support legislation involving sustainable building practices in the state.
- AIA Colorado issued a series of short e-Surveys regarding advocacy, membership and communication in order to find better ways to meet the needs of members.
- The AIA Colorado government affairs committee continued to develop relationships with state legislators and educate them on issues important to architects in Colorado.

- The Architectural Education Foundation awarded more than $58,000 in scholarships, grants and other awards to students, interns, architects, teachers and allied organizations.
- AIA Colorado was recognized by AIA National with a component excellence award for membership recruitment and retention.

AIA DENVER

- AIA Denver partnered with the City and County of Denver and the Downtown Denver Partnership to review best practices from other cities public works' departments.
- AIA Denver partnered with the Denver Public Library to create an exhibit on the Denver City Beautiful movement and 100 years of architecture. Photos from the exhibit will be displayed at DIA through 2008 to celebrate the Denver's 150th birthday.
- AIA Denver once again partnered with the City and County of Denver and the Denver Architectural Foundation to host Doors Open Denver – a public event opening up more than 80 buildings and architectural spaces to the public. The event is one of several programs that AIA hosts during Colorado Architecture Week each year.
- AIA Denver continued the annual Architects' Choice Awards program, which includes a year-long series of articles about the winners in the Rocky Mountain News.
- Channel 8 covered the Denver City Council's reading of the Colorado Architecture Week proclamation.

AIA COLORADO NORTH

- AIA Colorado North successfully began a monthly series of Lunch & Learn programs, held in Boulder and Ft. Collins. The program continues to grow.
- AIA Colorado North instituted a series of Quarterly Membership Meetings for the purposes of disseminating chapter information and providing networking opportunities for the members. Programs were held in March, June, September and December.
- AIA Colorado North worked to build its ARE Resource Materials Library.

AIA COLORADO SOUTH

- AIA Colorado South worked with the Pikes Peak Regional Building Department and other groups to create efficiencies in plan approvals and reviews.
- AIA Colorado South launched a Box City program during Colorado Architecture Week. The program is for elementary-school-aged kids and gives them an opportunity to build a miniature cardboard city while learning about design and construction.
- AIA Colorado South collaborated with The Gazette to publish a two-week public poll about architecture. The results were published in The Gazette and on the newspaper's Web site.

AIA COLORADO WEST

- AIA Colorado West conducted two building code seminars, as well as other local continuing education programs throughout the region. AIA Colorado is currently looking into developing a series of video-conferences and/or Webinars for future continuing education programs.
- AIA Colorado West partnered with local communities to hold LEED™ seminars in Grand Junction and Steamboat Springs.
- AIA Colorado West co-sponsored the Straw Bale Conference that was in Durango. The conference works to teach conventional home builders about making energy efficient and resource conservative choices.

LOOKING AHEAD IN 2008

The focus of 2008 is the AIA member. We must continually listen carefully to those we wish to serve and effectively communicate our efforts to elevate the profession. AIA Colorado and our four local chapters have made tremendous positive strides in the last few years: we have become financially stable and worked to ensure future stability, we have reviewed and strengthened educational and networking programs for the benefit of the membership, we have reached out to government entities and the public to educate them on the important role that architects play in our communities. The 2008 board challenge and theme is to put the AIA member first in every decision we make, every action we take and in everything we do as board members in 2008.

Currently, AIA Colorado has over 2,400 members.

MISSION-VISION STATEMENT:

AIA Colorado, the voice of the profession of architecture, inspires and supports its members as leaders to improve and sustain the quality of the built environment. We promote the value of the profession and provide resources and education for members.

Welcome from AIA Colorado President and Executive Director

Chris Stumm, AIA
2008 President
AIA Colorado

Sonia Riggs
Executive Director
AIA Colorado

We are pleased to provide you with this year's edition of the AIA Colorado Firm Profile & Membership Directory as part of your member benefits in AIA. This publication is a valuable resource to connect you with fellow AIA Colorado members, committees, staff and leadership. This directory, together with our Web site at www.aiacolorado.org, provides members with current contacts to access the wealth of resources AIA Colorado has to offer.

The AIA Colorado office is located in the heart of downtown Denver at 1515 Arapahoe St., Ste. 1-110. We believe it is important to maintain an urban presence on behalf of our members. Our staff serves the membership and the public with diligence and professionalism, providing member services, contract documents, Architectural Registration Exam (ARE) study materials, a general reference library and maintenance of the always-important job board. The staff also works with members to coordinate our communication strategy, the government affairs agenda, the annual scholarship program and both state and local chapter events, including the design awards galas and continuing-education classes.

One of the indirect benefits of being an active member of AIA is fellowship. Getting to know other members, sharing ideas, collaborating on projects and building genuine friendships that grow from communication with your peers can be as valuable as the more obvious, direct benefits AIA has to offer. It is important to stay connected to your profession, and we believe this directory supports our members in that endeavor. It can be an integral tool in your efforts to be an engaged member of AIA Colorado.

This publication would not be possible without the strong support of the advertisers and sponsors represented in the Buyers' Guide. Their investment in our organization is important to our future success.

Chris Stumm, AIA

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB)

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) was established in 1920 to help member boards:

- Carry out their duties.
- Foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws.
- Develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training.
- Perfect their procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification.
- Establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members, including the Colorado Board of Examiners of Architects.

To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure, authenticate and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character. This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given to an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most board members accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. However, it is not a national registration.

Complete information on compiling a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from the Colorado State Board of Licensure for Architects, Professional Engineers & Professional Land Surveyors.

NCARB can be contacted at:

ARC pac — Architects of Colorado Political Action Committee

1515 Arapahoe St., Ste. 1-110; Denver, CO 80202; 303.446.2266 voice

What is a Political Action Committee?
A political action committee (PAC) is a nonprofit, political organization specifically created to promote legislative interests and raise funds for that purpose.

The Architects of Colorado PAC (ARCpac) focuses on the interests of Colorado registered architects, whether AIA members or not. AIA dues are not a part of ARCpac, and membership in the PAC is completely voluntary and separate from AIA Colorado.

Why do Colorado Architects need a PAC?
A group of architects recognized that the architectural profession is significantly influenced by elected officials and the acts they take. Therefore, in order to have a more active role in the election process and raise funds for that purpose, a PAC is necessary. ARCpac provides additional opportunities to create relationships with state legislators. Also, ARCpac can donate money to candidates who fight for issues of importance to architects. Furthermore, ARCpac members may help with political campaigns.

Who can be a part of ARCpac?
All Colorado licensed architects may be a part of this organization upon contributing to ARCpac. Any individual, firm, company or partnership with a vested interest in the architectural profession can contribute to ARCpac. Contributions to ARCpac are limited to $500 per person or firm for each election cycle. ARCpac is a way for a firm to give to a cause, as firms are not able to give money to candidates.

How is a PAC effective?
ARCpac is effective with legislators and other elected officials because it represents the collective political arm of 6,000 Colorado architects and supporters acting as one influential voice.

Who decides how ARCpac distributes its money?
The executive committee of ARCpac makes decisions about who receives ARCpac money. Contributions received by ARCpac cannot be declared to any specific candidate. ARCpac distributes all of its money during election years to political candidates running for state office, regardless of party affiliation. ARCpac donates money to candidates who support issues of importance to architects, regardless of party affiliation.

What political issues are important to architects?
Recent issues of importance include the architect licensing law, scope-of-practice protection, sustainable design, school bond issues, indemnification, eminent domain and land use.

How Can I Contribute To ARCpac?
There are five ways your firm can help ARCpac:
1. Make a personal or corporate donation of up to $500 per election cycle.
2. Designate a firm member to solicit members of your firm to contribute to ARCpac.
3. Agree to host a fundraiser in your home for your state senator or representative.
4. Agree to attend a fundraiser organized by ARCpac.
5. Agree to work on your senator's/representative's re-election campaign.

What Architects Do

You have a vision of what you want; now you need to make it a reality. The following outlines how architects can assist you in that process.

Architects See the Big Picture
Architects are specially educated to assist you in defining what you want to build, present options you might never have considered and help you get the most for your valuable investment. They do not just design four walls and a roof, they create total environments, both interiors and exteriors, that are functional and exciting places to work and live.

Architects Solve Problems Creatively
Architects are trained problem solvers. Need more room for your growing family? Architects can show you how to enlarge your home so that you will not need to move. Have a limited budget? Architects can propose ways to get more than you imagined possible for your investment.

Architects Help You Get the Most from Your Construction Dollar
Architects can reduce building costs, decrease your home's energy needs and increase its future resale value through good design.

Architects Make Your Life Easier
Building is a long process that can be messy and disruptive, particularly if you are living in the space while it is under construction. Your architect represents you, looks out for your interests, smoothes the process, helps find qualified construction contractors, and visits the worksite to help protect you against work that is not according to plan.

Speak with an architect who is a member of AIA at the earliest stage of the design process. Use the AIA Colorado Firm Profile & Membership Directory to reach all of the AIA members located in Colorado. Another available resource is Find An Architect on www.aiacolorado.org, an online architectural database with the names of member firms.

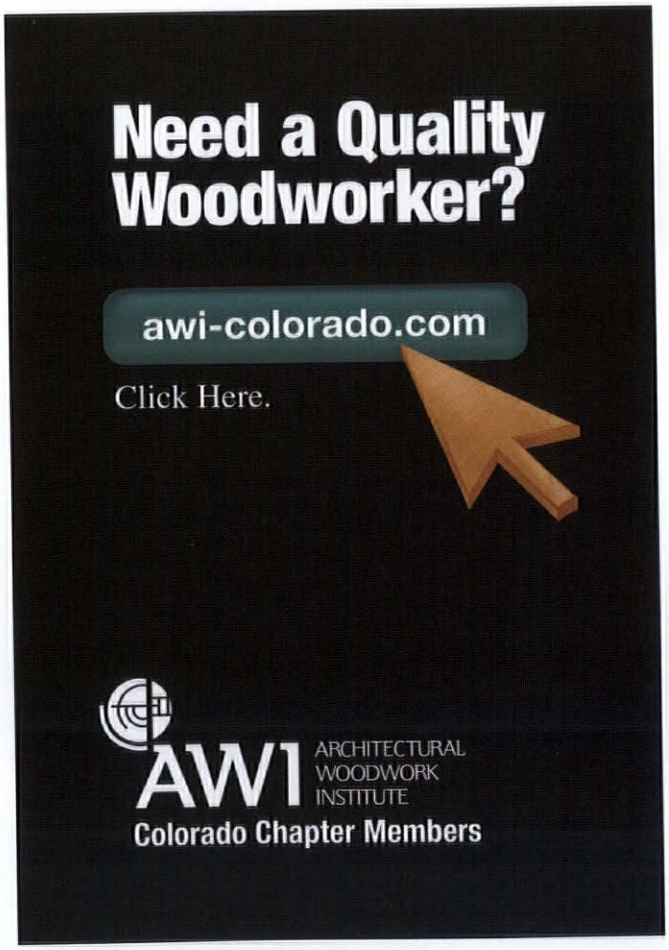

Why an AIA Architect?

Like doctors and lawyers, architects are licensed professionals. The title "architect" may be used only by an individual who possesses a state license to practice architecture. Architects are the only professionals in the construction industry who are ethically bound to represent you: the building owner. Professional qualifications generally include:

- College degree from an accredited school of architecture, requiring five or more years of professional studies.
- Three years of internship under the supervision of licensed architects.
- Passage of nine rigorous examinations.

Only those professionals, who have fulfilled these requirements or other requirements as stipulated by each individual state, legally may call themselves architects and practice architecture in the jurisdiction granting license. Individuals may be registered, or licensed, in more than one state by means of reciprocal licensing agreements among the states.

Get the Real Thing – Look for "AIA"
Look for the "AIA" initials after the name of any architect you consider for your project. AIA architects remain current with professional standards through continuing education, subscribe to a code of ethics and professional conduct that assure clients, the public and colleagues of their dedication to high standards in professional practice.

AIA Colorado Services for Consumers

AIA Colorado Firm Profile & Membership Directory
The AIA Colorado Firm Profile & Membership Directory is an annually published, statewide listing of all AIA Colorado members. This directory lists member contact information by local chapter and includes the types of services that each firm offers. This publication can be a valuable asset in one's search for the right architect for a project.

Find An Architect on www.aiacolorado.org
Individuals can complete free searches at www.aiacolorado.org to identify AIA Colorado-firm architects by location, specialty or other search criteria. All firms listed have one or more licensed principal architects who are members of AIA Colorado.

Additionally, AIA provides the complimentary, national online service Architect Finder at http://aia.org/architect_finder/. This allows individuals to search for architectural firms across the country using various criteria.

Architect Colorado Magazine
The primary mission of Architect Colorado is to inform AIA Colorado members about architectural news, trends and developments occurring throughout the state and about work being done by our members in our region and beyond. The publication also serves as an outreach tool to educate the community about the value of architectural excellence and the contributions of AIA Colorado architects.

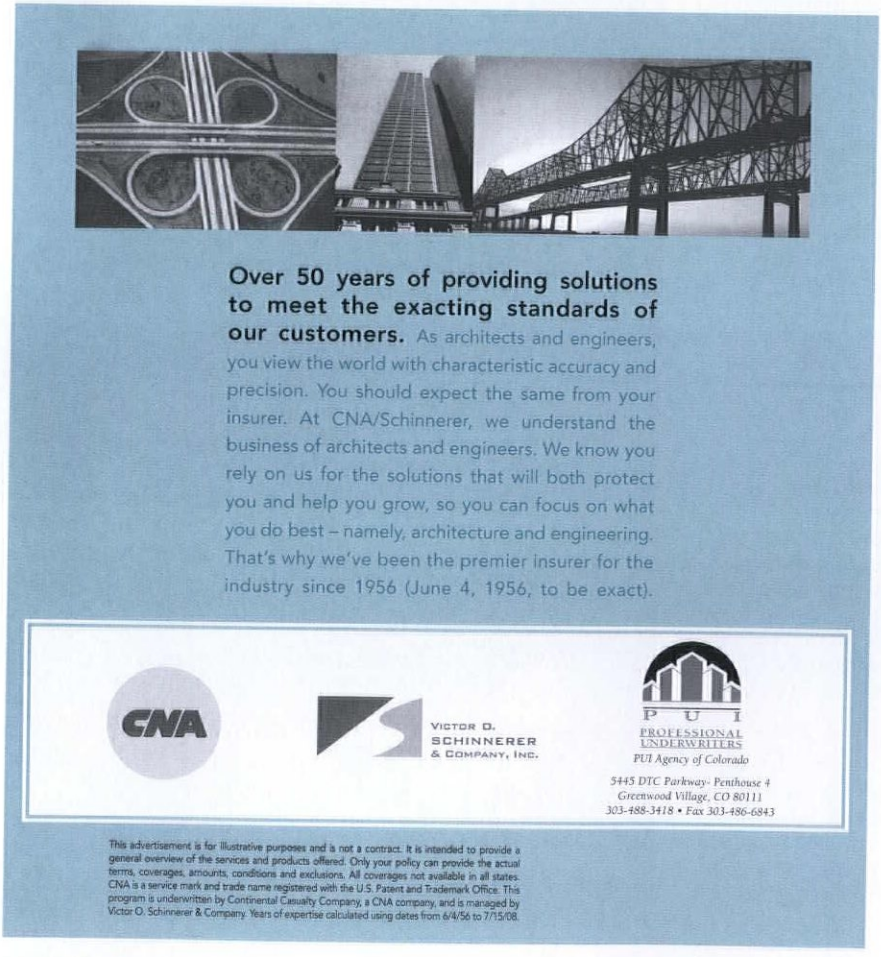

A subscription to the quarterly published Architect Colorado is available for $30 per year. Single issues are available for $7.50 each (plus tax and S&H). Contact AIA Colorado at 303.446.2266 for more information or for group sales pricing.

AIA Contract Documents
AIA Colorado is a full distributor of AIA Contract Documents. The documents produced by AIA are the most widely used standard form contracts in the construction industry. Document synopses are available on www.aiacolorado.org. AIA Contract Documents (paper format) also can be ordered online. For AIA contract document software, call 800.365.2724, ext. 2. For more information on paper formatted documents, call 303.446.2266.

Transit-oriented Development: Reshaping the Great American City (Film)
In 2006, the AIA Denver Urban Design Committee produced this film in response to the need to explore the characteristics of successful TODs. The documentary is a 60-minute film that exposes the negative impacts of sprawl in the largest U.S. cities and the promise of TOD as an alternative. Copies of the film are available for $20 each (plus tax and S&H). Contact AIA Colorado at 303.446.2266 for more information.

How Design Works for You Web site
If individuals never have worked with architects before, they likely have questions: Does the project really require an architect? At what point should a design team become involved? What is it like to work with an AIA architect, and how does one get the most out of the experience? To help answer these questions and other, AIA hosts the complimentary, online resource How Design Works for You at http://howdesignworks.aia.org/. From this Web site, individuals are guided through the five stages of design by downloading video and other tools that describe how the process works.

Publications
A variety of AIA publications and fact sheets are available to the public at no charge. These resources cover a range of topics, from finding and working with an architect to how architects can help manage projects and the design process. Contact AIA Colorado at 303.446.2266 or visit www.aiacolorado.org to request a current list of these resources.

AIA Colorado History

The Colorado Association of Architects was organized in 1890, and the elected officers were Robert S. Roeschlaub, president; Harold W. Baerresen, vice president; Eugene R. Rice, secretary; and Frank E. Edbrooke, treasurer. The same men were re-elected to office at the second annual meeting held Dec. 21, 1891. The main topic of discussion at that event was submitting an application for a charter as a chapter of The American Institute of Architects. The charter was received April 4, 1892, and included the states of Colorado, Wyoming and the territory of New Mexico. It was not until 1947 that each state had its own chapter.

AIA Colorado Committees & Task Forces

The following outlines a portion of the committees and services available to members of AIA Colorado. The AIA Colorado Board of Directors encourages members' active participation in AIA at the local, state and national levels. This involvement means fellowship with peers, furthering one's career and continuing education. Members can volunteer their expertise by joining a committee, sponsoring an intern, submiting an article for use in Architect Colorado, running for a board seat, suggesting a new service or attending the annual design conference. Your participation and feedback are welcomed and necessary for the continued success of this membership body. Many other committees exist at the local chapter level as well. Please refer to the AIA Colorado Web site at www.aiacolorado.org for a complete list of all committees active in each chapter.

AIA/AGC/ACEC Design and Construction Coalition
In 1997, the Colorado Component of The American Institute of Architects, Associated General Contractors of Colorado and the American Consulting Engineers Council of Colorado sought an agreement to achieve a partnership for the purpose of enhancing the relationships between the three organizations and their members. The board of directors of each organization is committed to developing a detailed understanding of the concerns that confront the members of each organization as they proceed with the design and construction of projects and to carefully analyze the challenges that the three organizations have in accomplishing their goals. Chairperson of this committee rotates between the three organizations on an annual basis.

Advocacy Sub-Committee
Established in 2007, this is a sub-committee of the Government Affairs Committee. The committee is charged with getting feedback from the membership and making recommendations on advocacy initiatives for the coming year.

Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado
Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado, awards scholarships and grants to architectural students, faculty members, architects and AIA components each spring. The application deadline for these scholarships historically has been the beginning of March. Approximately $35,000 is distributed annually by the foundation. The foundation prioritizes scholarships and grants for AIA, Associate AIA, AIAS members, as well as architectural students in coordination with professional development.

Architecture Week
This committee is responsible for working with local chapters, state committees and allied organizations to coordinate and publicize a week of events dedicated to celebrating architecture and generating public awareness for architecture. Typically, the Young Architect's Awards Gala (YAAG) kicks off Architecture Week. Architecture Week generally takes place in April.

Building Enclosure Council
The Colorado Building Enclosure Council (BEC) is a committee of AIA Colorado formed under the auspices of a joint National AIA-NIBS/BETEC cooperation agreement. The committee's mission is to increase awareness of building envelope design as a critical aspect of the successful construction and performance of buildings and to foster the education of building industry professionals regarding proper design, construction, and maintenance of building envelopes with an emphasis on issues related to the Colorado climate. The BEC is intended to be a multi-disciplinary effort with participation open to architects, engineers, contractors, and material suppliers interested in building enclosure science.

Communication Advisory Board
The Communication Advisory Board (CAB) was formed to serve as the nucleus of strategic communication planning for the state and its four local chapters components. Members of this board will function as an accessible source of information and as a tool for architectural professionals, supporting personal and professional development. The communication tools that are continuously being enhanced to target all AIA Colorado needs are the quarterly Architect Colorado design magazine, weekly eNews and the Web site. CAB continues to strategize on the state's Web site enhancement. CAB is a direct report to the AIA Colorado Board of Directors.

Design Awards Program Committee
The Design Awards Program Committee seeks to honor works of distinction by AIA Colorado members and to bring to public attention the outstanding architectural services provided by members of AIA Colorado. Design Award winners are announced during the annual Design Conference.

Design Conference Committee
This committee is responsible for the planning and execution of AIA Colorado's Design Conference. The conference chair is appointed by the president-elect one-year prior to the conference. Committee members develop the theme for each conference, invite speakers and coordinate the schedule. Member participation and feedback is encouraged.

Fellows Nominating Task Force
This task force was formed in 1992 to assist local chapters in nominating outstanding members to be considered for election to the College of Fellows. The task force helps those architects nominated in developing their submissions to the jury of the College of Fellows.

Finance Committee
This committee is responsible for the financial well-being of AIA Colorado. The committee develops long-range financial goals and makes recommendations to the board regarding budgets and other areas of financial planning. Membership dues, the Design Conference, support from exhibitors and document sales generate most of the revenue necessary for the operating budget of AIA Colorado. Committee members are comprised of the elected officers of AIA Colorado and the executive director.

Finance Committee Initiatives include:

1. Reserve Policy: develop and implement long-range financial planning with secure reserve funds.
2. Programs Analysis: general oversight of programs geared towards cost-effectiveness and revenue generation.
3. Strategic Plan: adjust budget to accommodate initiatives as approved by the AIAC Board of Directors.
4. AIAC Board of Directors: develop financial stability to allow board to concentrate on member services.

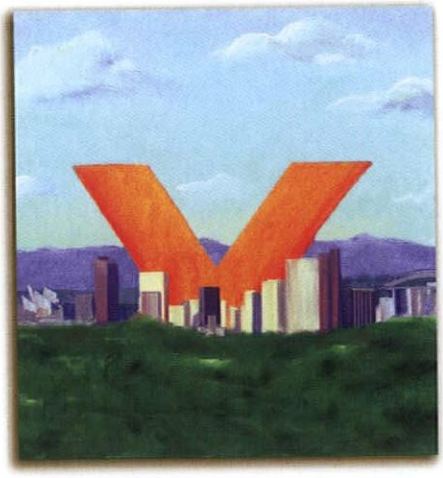

Government Affairs Committee
The Government Affairs Committe meets on the first Friday of each month at 1:00 p.m. at the AIA Colorado office to discuss matters relating to, among other things, the State Board of Examiners of Architects, Engineers and Land Surveyors and legislation at the federal and state levels. During the 120-day Colorado legislative session, the Legislative Affairs Sub-Committee meets each week to screen and discuss potential legislation that could affect the profession of architecture. Our contract lobbyist, Jerry Johnson, Hon. AIA/C, assists AIA Colorado in this monitoring process, as well as providing onsite lobbying at the Capitol. AIA Colorado occasionally sponsors legislation; our primary goal for this program is to increase the legislators' awareness of architects, architecture and AIA Colorado.

Government Advisory Board
An anticipated future committee charged with identifying and supporting the potential for AIA members running for local or state government.

History Committee
Responsible for researching and compiling the history of AIA Colorado and individual members that have made a significant impact on the organization.

Intern Advocate Committee
Chaired by the IDP state coordinator, the Intern Advocate Committee was established to address the needs of the architectural intern community in Colorado. These needs include help with navigation through the licensing process, dissemination of information pertinent to interns, help with creating mentoring relationships, organization of activities that educate interns, as well as organization of activities to help the community through volunteer efforts.

Intern Development Program
The Intern Development Program (IDP) continues to gain momentum in Colorado. The IDP coordinator and AIA Colorado staff send out more than 200 packets each year. The coordinator provides programs at CU Boulder and CU Denver, as well as firms interested in the merits of the IDP program. The coordinator also nominates firms for the AIA/NCARB IDP Firm of the Year award.

The AIA Colorado Young Architects' Awards Gala (YAAG) committee is responsible for the annual awards program and the Beaux Arts Ball, which recognizes AIA Colorado's Education Foundation Scholarship Award recipients, students, interns and recently licensed professionals. Award categories include excellence in construction documents, technology innovations, craftsmanship and student portfolios. The program also seeks to recognize significant firm contributions to young professionals through its Mentoring Firm of the Year award. The Young Architect of the Year award also is presented at this program. The past associate-director of AIA Colorado chairs the Young Architects' Awards Gala.

AIA College of Fellows

AIA bestows the recognition of Fellowship for achievement in architecture on members who have contributed notably to the advancement of the profession of architecture. With the exception of the Gold Medal, Fellowship is the highest honor AIA can bestow on a member. It is conferred on members with at least 10 years of membership who have made significant contributions to the aesthetic, scientific and practical efficiency of the profession; to the standards of architectural education, training and practice; to the building industry through leadership of AIA and other related professional organizations; to the advancement of the living standards of people through their improved environment; and to society through significant public service.

Those advanced to Fellowship can use "FAIA" designation after their names in recognition of their contributions in design, education, research or public service.

The following people came into the area from other chapters in the early years and were automatic Fellows when assigned to the AIA Colorado Chapter. (Area: Colorado, Wyoming and the territory of New Mexico, April 4, 1892).

The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado

Since the first $600 scholarship was presented in 1961, The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado, has awarded more than $800,000 in scholarships, grants and other prizes to more than 250 students, architects and teachers. The annual awards program exceeds $50,000 from income received through investments and donations.

During the past four decades, individual architects and firms have made substantial contributions to the foundation as memorials. Individuals and organizations allied with the construction industry also have made significant donations in the past. Many donors send a contribution to the fund, instead of flowers, to memorialize a lost loved one, friend or associate. The foundation continually seeks new funds in the way of endowments, donations and memorials from the design community and the AIA Colorado membership at large.

The foundation provides assistance to AIA Colorado and its members so that AIA Colorado can conduct professional education programs accessible to the membership and the design community. Requests for such grants should be submitted to The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado, 3320 E. 2nd Ave., Denver, CO 80206.

The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado, was established in 1934 by five men devoted to the practice of architecture. On Jan. 23, 1934, Robert K. Fuller, FAIA, announced on behalf of himself and the four other men the creation of a special trust fund "to advance the interest of the profession of architecture in the state of Colorado."

The foundation was conceived a decade earlier by the founders of the Allied Architects Association: Robert K. Fuller, FAIA; William E. Fisher, FAIA; George H. Williamson, FAIA; William Bowman, AIA; and Fred Montjoy, AIA. Their vision long had been "to provide an instrument whereby, someday, sufficient income would be realized to be able to award scholarships, grants, prizes, etc. to the betterment of the profession." (All quotes are from the original articles of incorporation.)

The first aim of the foundation was quite modest: the assets were to be "held intact and allowed to grow" until the principal would be large enough to ensure a "good annual return therefrom." The founders hoped that the amount in the fund would serve as a "nucleus" that would increase in value and, now that it formally was established, also attract additional donations. By 1944, however, no new contributions had been made and of the five founding fathers of the fund, only the fund's chairman, Fuller, survived.

On Dec. 18, 1944, the foundation was transferred to the Colorado Chapter, AIA (predecessor of the Colorado State Society of AIA and now AIA Colorado) as a chapter investment fund. Fuller was designated as its permanent trustee. By early 1961, the fund had achieved its first aim "... a good annual return." It then was deemed wise to incorporate as a separate, tax-free entity to be known as the Educational Fund, Colorado Chapter, AIA. On Feb. 16, 1961, the foundation was incorporated as a separate, tax-exempt, non-profit corporation under that name. Its broad purpose, as reported in the December 1961 issue of the Colorado Chapter, AIA, newsletter, The Addenda, was (and remains today) "to advance education in architecture by granting of scholarships, prizes and financial aid to deserving students in architecture and to teachers or architects interested in research projects directly related to and of value to the architectural profession."

At its November 1961 meeting at the old Boulder Country Club, the Colorado Chapter, AIA, awarded the $600 William E. Fisher Memorial Scholarship to James E. Koentop, a fifth-year architectural engineering student at the University of Colorado. This was the first scholarship awarded by the Educational Fund, Colorado Chapter, AIA. It had taken only 27 years for the five founders' original dream (to be able to make such awards for the betterment of the profession) to come true.

Fuller died in 1966, and the Colorado Chapter, AIA, asked his son, Kenneth R. Fuller, FAIA, to assume the responsibility of the position of permanent member of the board of trustees. Upon the death of Kenneth in 1998, Robert K. Fuller II, AIA, became the third permanent member of the board.

In 1969 the AIA in Colorado was restructured into a state society with two chapters (now four), and the fund's name was legally changed to the Educational Fund, Colorado Society of Architects, AIA. In 2001 the trustees reincorporated the fund with updated articles and bylaws and a new name that reflected the fund's evolution: The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado. Today the board of trustees of The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado, consists of the following five members: the current president of AIA Colorado is the foundation president; the current president-elect of AIA Colorado is the vice president; Robert K. Fuller II, AIA, is the permanent secretary/treasurer; and the past president and executive director of AIA Colorado serve as trustees.

AIA Continuing Education System: Survival Guide

Program Basics

What is AIA CES?

It is a continuing education system (CES) developed by AIA to emphasize learning and track participation in professional learning activities. AIA CES enables architects to keep current, master new knowledge and skills, plan for the future and responsibly meet the role society entrusts to a professional. The program also allows members to fulfill a requirement for AIA membership and meet any state mandatory continuing education requirement. In this role, the program has the potential to be a primary force in the improvement and revitalization of the profession.

What is my annual learning unit (LU) requirement?

All active AIA members must successfully complete 18 learning unit (LU) hours each year, with at least eight of the 18 LU hours relating to health, safety and welfare (HSW).

A member who fails to meet the annual requirement will be given a one-year grace period. Any credit earned in the following year will apply toward the deficit. During the first nine months of the grace period, members are able to report retroactively any activities that were completed in the previous year.

A member who exceeds the annual requirement may carry up to 18 LU hours (including eight hours of HSW) over to the next year. Carryover credit can be used for one year only; it is not cumulative. Only the number of credits needed to fulfill the annual requirement for the following year may be carried over. Extra credit may not be carried past the one-year limit. (NOTE: Most state licensing boards do not allow carryover and deficit credit. States have strict continuing education timeframes for earning credits.)

What is an LU?

AIA tracks continuing education credit in LU (learning unit) hours. A one-LU hour activity is equal to one contact hour. An LU hour is not a continuing education unit (CEU). One CEU is equal to 10 LU hours.

How does AIA CES work?

Members can earn LU hours by attending programs offered by AIA CES registered providers or through self-reporting independent activities.

What is an AIA CES Registered Provider Program?

AIA has developed a network of more than 2,500 educational providers made up of AIA components, chapters, affiliate organizations, firms, manufacturers, universities, non-profit organizations and government agencies. These educational providers offer more than 25,000 programs each year.

Programs offered by AIA CES providers are filed with AIA CES Records in Oklahoma. Within 14 days of a program's conclusion, AIA CES providers verify and report the program attendees to AIA CES Records. For non-AIA members, the AIA CES provider will provide a certificate of completion upon request. The complete activities then are posted on AIA members' transcripts. Online transcripts are available at www.aia.org/conted/.

What are Self-Reported Activities?
AIA members must indicate whether the activities they are reporting are self-designed or structured self-reported programs.

What are Self-Designed Activities?
This type of learning activity is organized by the member specifically to meet one's individual needs. A self-designed activity frequently involves more than one type of medium or method, such as research, reading, interviewing subject experts, listening to audiotapes and/or viewing videos. To determine what qualifies for self-reporting, answer the following questions:
1. Is this a planned learning activity?
2. Is this activity intended to be educational or operational?
3. Are you acquiring new knowledge, or are you sharing your knowledge with others?
4. How will you apply this new knowledge to your practice?

This method is not acceptable for HSW credit. Some state licensing boards will not accept this type of reporting for mandatory continuing education (MCE) requirements. (Recommended minimum of three hours.)

Structured Self-Reported Program
This is a structured activity offered by an organized, third-party, non-CES provider. Documentation of attendance/participation usually will be required as a supplement when reporting this activity to meet a state licensure requirement. For members who self-report a structured activity, AIA is not able to assist in acquiring any support documentation that may be required by a state licensing board MCE audit.

To be eligible for credit, self-reported activities must be planned, educational activities that provide new knowledge applied toward the practice of architecture.

How do I Submit Self-Reported Activities?
1. AIA Members can submit self-reported activities online at www.aia.org/conted. Log into the CES Transcript Login, located on the right-hand side, by providing your membership number. AIA CES Self-Report Forms can be accessed through the transcript page. Be sure to specify which type of learning activity you are reporting so the data can be entered accurately into your transcript. Members calculate LU hours for self-reported activities by reporting the number of hours spent in architecture-related learning—think in terms of billable hours applied to learning.

Is there a limit to the number of credits that I can self-report in one year?
No. You can self-report as many structured and self-designed activities as you like. Remember, only credits reported in the appropriate method will be applied to your transcript. Follow the procedures outlined in the above paragraphs. Members are advised to check with state licensing boards as certain states will not accept self-reported continuing education as a viable means of education for license renewal.

Health, Safety and Welfare (HSW) LUs

How Does HSW Tie into CES?
AIA requires members to earn eight of the basic LU hour requirements in the area of HSW. The percentage of HSW content in any HSW-related activity must be a minimum of 75 percent to qualify a program or educational event for HSW credit. This accomplishes three goals:
1. To ensure that HSW-related programs have a real relevance to AIA members.
2. To eliminate any question of whether the content of a program was actually HSW-related.
3. To protect AIA members with state MCE requirements.

Can I Self-Report HSW Hours?
Yes, but with restrictions. You may self-report any structured activity that is HSW-related and receive HSW credit for it. In other words, the activity must be developed and presented to you by a third-party organization. You cannot receive HSW credit for any self-designed activity. For example, even though code research is HSW in nature, if it is a self-designed activity, AIA does not allow HSW credit for it. This policy was adopted to ensure quality control guidelines are enforced and to comply with state licensing board requirements.

Can I Receive HSW Hours from Online and Magazine Education Classes and Workshops? (i.e., AIA e-Classroom, Architectural Record, etc.)
Yes. You can obtain HSW hours from any approved course, including online and magazine courses.

Is There a Limit to How Many Credits I Can Receive by Taking Online and Magazine Courses?
Yes, but only from certain publications. There are no limits on the amount of credits that members may obtain for online and magazine courses throughout the year except for Architectural Record courses. The maximum amount of credits a member may obtain for Architectural Record courses in one year is eight credits. The eight credits may be HSW hours or regular LUs.

Am I Supposed to Add my LU Hours and HSW Hours Together to Meet Requirements?
No. The HSW column on your transcript simply shows how many of your total LU hours are HSW-related. The annual requirement is 18 LU hours, of which eight must be HSW-related. Thus, if you earn eight hours of credit from an HSW-related activity, you will need only 10 more hours (of either HSW-related or non-HSW-related activity) to meet your requirement. Eight hours is the minimum requirement for HSW credit, but that number may be exceeded.

What Is the Relation Between HSW and State MCE?
Both AIA and state licensing boards base their programs on the contact hour. A majority of states require eight contact hours of HSW for their MCE. (Exceptions are Kansas, which has no HSW requirement, and Alabama, Louisiana, Minnesota, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Vermont , which require 12 HSW contact hours.) The AIA CES program requires eight contact hours of HSW from a structured provider. Some states allow some forms of self-reporting. Due to the quality assurance issues posed by the states, AIA does not accept self-designed activities for HSW credit.

CAUTION: For members who self-report structured activities for HSW credit, it has become very important that they clearly report all HSW programs and activities separately, ensuring that they are clearly identified. Failure to do so could result in the loss of license because of noncompliance with state MCE requirements.

How are Transcript Records Kept and How May They be Accessed?
Individual transcript records are updated daily on www.aia.org. Anyone with an active AIA membership number can access a transcript online. To access your individual transcript, visit www.aia.org/conted. Enter your member number in the space provided and click the "Get Transcript" button. You then may print out an unofficial copy of your CES transcript.

Official CES transcripts also are available upon request. A hard copy of the transcript can be faxed or mailed to a member for a fee of $10 per copy. You may make your request in writing, by phone or by fax to:

AIA Denver Committees

Each committee is organized to support existing programs within the organization, to strengthen membership activities and develop new educational opportunities for AIA membership that are of greatest interest to the profession and community. AIA Denver members are encouraged to become active in these committees.

Annual Awards Committee
The Annual Awards Committee is organized to design, plan and implement the AIA Denver Design Awards Gala. This annual event recognizes and celebrates outstanding architectural achievements within the Denver community. The event is held each fall. The committee actively works on developing the program's itinerary and selecting nationally recognized keynote speakers.

Annual Golf Tournament Committee
The Annual Golf Tournament Committee organizes this summer event to provide a networking opportunity for architects and industry sponsors to socialize in a fun tournament atmosphere. In addition to networking opportunities, this also serves as one of AIA Denver's largest fundraising venues.

AIA Denver Committees (cont'd)

Architectural Review Exams (ARE) Committee
The ARE Committee organizes effective review sessions for ARE candidates. Various review topics are presented by professionals at each meeting. Mock examinations and study guides are distributed to participants of the sessions. The goal of the ARE Committee is to make the sessions effective, interesting and affordable for the 50 candidates that enroll each year. Review programs are held on Thursday evenings and Saturdays throughout March and April.

Committee on the Environment (COTE)
COTE, as its motto states, is committed to "bridging the gap—high performance and high design" by promoting education about the performance of buildings to architects, design professionals and other groups involved with sustainability.

Design-Build Committee
The Design-Build Committee provides a forum for owners, architects, engineers and contractors to share better project delivery methods. Today, owners are demanding more from a single source of responsibility for their projects, which creates greater opportunities for architects and contractors. Working together and opening the door to better understanding enables designers and builders to deliver positive results for clients. The Design-Build Committee invites members to join the committee and lead the way to better design-build.

Fellows Nominating Committee
The Fellows Nominating Committee is charged with identifying and nominating candidates who are deserving of advancement to the College of Fellows and would receive serious consideration for advancement to Fellowship by the national AIA Jury of Fellows. This committee facilitates an active approach to identifying worthy candidates for current and future consideration and conducting an open, credible and understandable nomination process.

Historic Preservation Committee
The Historic Preservation Committee is an interdisciplinary membership organization dedicated to educate, investigate, track and support historic preservation. Primary tasks of the committee are to increase public awareness, enhance professional development, advocate community involvement and recognize the contributions of people involved in preservation of the built environment and early pioneers involved in the development of Denver and Colorado.

Housing Committee
The Housing Committee is a forum for architects who specialize in designing residential building types, such as single-family, multi-family and lofts. The committee follows current issues that address codes, government regulations, evolving technology and current housing trends. The committee's goals are to have a better understanding of the Fair Housing Act, to offer solutions to growth issues and to educate developers and the general public about good residential design. The Architects' Choice Awards Subcommittee of this committee actively works with Rocky Mountain News to host the annual Architects' Choice Awards program.

Membership Committee
The Membership Committee is organized to increase membership participation and champion AIA benefits to current members. Committee programs provide the vast array of national, state and local benefits to potential members, including continuing education, the Intern Development Program and discounts on AIA Contract Documents.

Member Forums Committee
The Member Forums Committee was developed to produce monthly programs about timely issues relating to architecture. These programs are offered at no cost to members.

Public Affairs Committee
The Public Affairs Committee's task is two-fold. While the committee's focus is to improve the local chapter's communication and interaction with local government, the committee also focuses on how that interaction best can be promoted via public relations through op-ed articles, press releases and other communication vehicles.

STOPP Task Force
The STOPP (Citizens to Streamline Our Permitting Process) Task Force's goal is to stop unnecessary delays in the permitting process by introducing a streamlined approach with the objective of facilitating and encouraging new growth, not obstructing responsible construction.

Urban Design Committee
The Urban Design Committee is focused on growing into the role of a "community resource" of expertise and assistance in the development of designs involving local and regional urban design issues. The group also plays an educational role, developing and presenting workshops, design charrettes and presentations on current urban design issues. There are many opportunities for participation in this committee and the rewards are ultimately a better city in which to work and live.

Women in Design (WID)
WID strives to expand the gender diversity of the design professions to mirror the community that is served and to promote awareness of the contributions of women design professionals. WID pursues these strategies for gender diversity through networking, outreach and professional development.

AIA Colorado South Committees

Each committee is organized to support existing programs within the organization, to strengthen membership activities and to develop new educational opportunities for AIA membership that are of greatest interest to the profession and community. AIA Colorado South members are encouraged to become active in these committees.

Associates Committee
This committee engages all AIA Colorado South associate members in educational and social events. It makes learning materials available for the Architectural Review Exams, as well as facilitating scholarship opportunities.

Annual Gala Committee
The Annual Gala Committee works to design, plan and implement the annual holiday gala. This event recognizes and celebrates outstanding architectural achievements within the Colorado Springs community. The event is held in December, and the committee actively works on the gala's theme, venue and presentation.

AIA Colorado South Committees (cont'd)

Design Awards Program Committee
The Design Awards Program Committee honors works of distinction by AIA Colorado South members and brings public attention to the outstanding architectural services provided by the chapter's members. Design award winners are announced during the annual holiday gala.

Historic Preservation Committee
The Historic Preservation Committee is an interdisciplinary membership organization dedicated to educate, investigate, track and support historic preservation. Primary tasks of the committee are to increase public awareness, enhance professional development, advocate community involvement and recognize the contributions of people involved in preservation of the built environment and early pioneers involved in the development of the AIA Colorado South's service area.

Programs Committee
This committee seeks opportunities to bring lectures, tours, networking receptions and educational events to the chapter in order for members to maintain their AIA continuing education requirements and to stimulate learning, networking and growth in the chapter.

Public Affairs Committee
The Public Affairs Committee's task is two-fold. While the committee's focus is to improve the local chapter's communication and interaction with local government, the committee also will focus on how that interaction best can be promoted via public relations through op-ed articles, press releases and other vehicles of public communication.

Sustainability Committee
This committee is combined with the Colorado Springs Downtown Partnership and works to educate AIA Colorado South members and downtown businesses about sustainable practices as part of the !magine Downtown! effort.

Urban Design Committee
The Urban Design Committee is focused on growing into the role of a "community resource" of expertise and assistance in the development of designs involving local and regional urban design issues. The group also plays an educational role, developing and presenting workshops, design charrettes and presentations on current urban design issues. There are many opportunities for participation in this committee, and the rewards are ultimately a better city in which to work and live.

AIA Colorado West Committees

Each committee is organized to support existing programs within the organization, to strengthen membership activities and to develop new educational opportunities for AIA membership that are of greatest interest to the profession and community. AIA Colorado West members are encouraged to become active in these committees.

AIA150 Committee
This committee serves as the link between the AIA150 national anniversary initiatives and the chapter's board of directors.

Design Awards Committee
The awards program honors works of distinction by members and brings public attention to the outstanding architectural services provided by AIA Colorado West members. The awards are presented annually at the spring awards gala.

Programs Committee
This committee seeks opportunities to bring lectures, tours, networking receptions and educational events to the chapter in order for members to maintain their AIA continuing education requirements and to stimulate learning, networking and growth in the chapter.

Public Affairs Committee
This committee's task is two-fold. While the committee's focus is to improve the local chapter's communication and interaction with local government, the committee also will focus on how that interaction best can be promoted via public relations through articles, press releases and other vehicles of public communication.
